“When one member joins the military, the whole family serves”
Shannon Tuimalealiifano
Elizabeth Dole Fellow

Shannon is dedicated to helping other caregivers find the help that she did, through building connections with peers who truly understand because of their own “lived experience” with traumatic life changes. She knows the difference that peer support can make in one’s ability to cope with the many day-to-day challenges that caregivers face, including balancing other important roles as children, spouses, parents, mentors and advocates.

Shannon applies her personal experience and her educational background (A.S. in Health Sciences, B.S. in Human Services, M.A. in Biblical Wisdom) to all that she does on behalf of the military wounded, ill, and injured community who she considers not simply her passion, but also her family.

Shannon is the Elizabeth Dole Foundation Fellow for Florida (formerly for Hawaii) and is Peer Mentor Coordinator for TAPS.

Shannon is the daughter of two Vietnam-era veterans and served almost 10 years in the Army (three of those years as an Activated Reservist, post-9/11). A mother of three, her caregiving experience began during the extensive cancer treatment for her oldest child. She now serves as caregiver for her husband, a Special Operations soldier who returned from Afghanistan quadriplegic, with traumatic brain injury and post-traumatic stress that require extensive medical support.

Respite Provider (sample discussion exercise)

• How might these core values impact Military caregivers:
  – Reaching out for respite support?
  – Your relationship with the caregiver?
  – With the veteran?

WARRIOR ETHOS
I will always place the mission first
I will never accept defeat
I will never quit
I will never leave a fallen comrade
Respite Scenario

Jun was in Iraq when the truck he was in hit an IED and blew up. He was blown out of the truck, receiving severe burns on his arms, chest, and part of his face. Airlifted to Landstuhl Army Regional Medical Center in Germany, he later spent significant time at the San Antonio Military Medical Center while having operations and skin grafts. The scar tissue on his arms makes it difficult to reach all the way forward and even 2 years later, he still tires easily. Portions of his bottom lip had to be reconstructed, so sometimes his words aren’t always clear when speaking.

He reports that, “People I meet sometimes have a hard time dealing with my burns. They try not to stare at my face and some seem uncomfortable when I extend my hand to shake theirs.”

Jun studied to be a bookkeeper while he was healing and going through therapy. “After all, my brain still works great, it’s just my body that isn’t like it used to be,” he says with a smile.

Discussion Questions:

1. What factors might you and Jun want to keep in mind when planning activities?
2. How might you approach difficult public situations such as those described by Jun?
Differences based on era . . .
